Response to Arguments

1. Applicant's arguments with respect to claims 30, and 36-39 have been considered but are moot in view of the new ground(s) of rejection.

Claim Objections

2. Claims 36-39 are objected to because of the following informalities:

Claim 36, lines 12-13, the expression "said cell information" should be replaced by --cell information--.

Claim 37, lines 11-12, the expression "said cell information" should be replaced by --cell information--.

Claims 38-39, line 13, the expression "said cell information" should be replaced by --cell information--. Appropriate correction is required.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

3. The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(e) the invention was described in (1) an application for patent, published under section 122(b), by another filed in the United States before the invention by the applicant for patent or (2) a patent granted on an application for patent by another filed in the United States before the invention by the applicant for patent, except that an international application filed under the treaty defined in section 351(a) shall have the effects for purposes of this subsection of an application filed in the United States only if the international application designated the United States and was published under Article 21(2) of such treaty in the English language.

4. Claims 30, and 36-39 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(e) as being anticipated by Ando et al.

Ando et al discloses a digital audio recording/reproducing apparatus that shows all the limitations recited in claims 30, 36, including the feature of the audio recording area and management area (See Ando et al's claim 1), the feature of the program change information configured to control a reproduction sequence of the audio information (See Ando et al's claim 1, second paragraph), the feature of the program chain information including representative picture information, and the representative picture information including entry number information configured to describe an entry number of a still picture object in which a representative picture for the track exists as specified in the present claims 30, 36. (See the program chain information including the entry number information and the still picture information shown in Ando et al's Figure 12h-12i, and the corresponding disclosure).

With regard to claims 37, and 39, the feature of reproducing management information including related information from the management area and reproducing audio information from the recording area is present in Ando et al. (See the reproducing section shown in Ando et al's Figure 4).

With regard to claim 38, the feature of recording the audio information in the recording area and the management information and the cell information in the management area as specified thereof is present in Ando et al. (See the recording section shown in Ando et al's Figure 4).

The applied reference has a common inventor with the instant application. Based upon the earlier effective U.S. filing date of the reference, it constitutes prior art under 35 U.S.C. 102(e). This rejection under 35 U.S.C. 102(e) might be overcome either by a showing under 37 CFR 1.132 that any invention disclosed but not claimed in the reference was derived from the inventor of this application and is thus not the invention "by another," or by an appropriate showing under 37 CFR 1.131.

Conclusion

5. The prior art made of record and not relied upon is considered pertinent to applicant's disclosure.

Yamamoto et al discloses an audio recording/reproducing apparatus.

6. Applicant's amendment necessitated the new ground(s) of rejection presented in this Office action. Accordingly, THIS ACTION IS MADE FINAL. See MPEP § 706.07(a). Applicant is reminded of the extension of time policy as set forth in 37 CFR 1.136(a).

A shortened statutory period for reply to this final action is set to expire THREE MONTHS from the mailing date of this action. In the event a first reply is filed within TWO MONTHS of the mailing date of this final action and the advisory action is not mailed until after the end of the THREE-MONTH shortened statutory period, then the shortened statutory period will expire on the date the advisory action is mailed, and any extension fee pursuant to 37 CFR 1.136(a) will be calculated from the mailing date of the advisory action. In no event, however, will the statutory period for reply expire later than SIX MONTHS from the date of this final action.
